What is sleep apnea?

Sleep apnea is a very common sleep-related breathing disorder that impacts millions of people every day. People with sleep apnea may experience shallow breathing while they sleep. They may even experience brief pauses in their breathing — as often as 30 times or more per hour.

Does sleep apnea affect a person's overall health?

Yes. These repeated pauses in breathing prevent an individual from reaching deeper sleep stages. This results in poor quality of sleep and stress on the body. Untreated sleep apnea may increase the risk of high blood pressure, heart attack, stroke, obesity, diabetes, and other medical conditions. It may increase a person's risk of heart failure or worsen the condition. Untreated sleep apnea may also increase the likelihood of arrhythmia, which is an irregular heartbeat.

Is this activity only for employees?

Both employees and their spouses are eligible to participate.

My HSAT results indicate that I may have sleep apnea. What do I do now?

We strongly recommend that you schedule an appointment with your primary care provider or a sleep medicine specialist. Be sure to print out your HSAT report and take it with you to your appointment. Your doctor may prescribe treatment therapy or refer you to a sleep medicine specialist for further evaluation.

To search for a sleep medicine specialist in your area:

- Go to the UHC, Surest, or Aetna online portals and use the search function.
- Call the phone number listed on the back of your insurance card.
- Contact your Primary Care Provider.

If you need more help identifying a sleep medicine specialist, contact your Healthy Hearts! Healthy You! Wellness Coordinator.
